Environmental Science: High School Science Fair Experiments

Synopsis

These step-by-step environmental experiments are designed for use in science fair competitions and as classroom study tools. Experiments include: "Ecosystems: seeing the forest through the trees"; "Energy flow - from the sun to your dinner plate and beyond"; "Recycling and waste reduction - new solutions to old problems"; "Aquatic ecosystems - the canary in the mine"; and "Indoor pollution: the next environmental revolution". Each book features more than 20 projects; descriptions of real-world applications related to each project; extensive bibliographic references for each experiment; and illustrations and glossaries. In-depth background information, experiment overviews, materials lists, thorough instructions and helpful illustrations are provided to help answer all questions. With this book, students should be able to gain a greater understanding of, and appreciation for, the environment and general scientific inquiry.

Customer Reviews

The book arrived in a fairly timely manner, but I was completely surprised that it is an ex library copy, as I have no way at all of telling how the seller came into possession of this book. It is not stamped "discard" or anything similar. I feel very uncomfortable buying from sellers who misrepresent such material facts about their product. The book itself looks very useful, but I will never do business with this seller again....omission is as bad as comission.

This book is amazingly informative and has tons of info and great science projects
