Conquest Of Cancer: Vaccines And Diet

Synopsis

This is the original book published in 1985 on the pioneering work of Dr. Virginia Livingston-Wheeler. It is being republished to make it widely available to the general public. Quotes from the original book: "Dr. Virginia Livingston-Wheeler is one of the great, unsung scientists of present day medicine. When her discovery of the 'cancer microbe' becomes... accepted, she will undoubtedly be known as the Pastuer of this century." Alan R. Cantwell, Jr. M.D. "Dr. Virginia has long been pioneering in new concepts of cancer cause and treatment... the many successes she has had in treating advanced cancer patients demonstrate what can be accomplished when a physician in cooperation with understanding patients tries to expand the limits of cancer treatment." Ray G. Crispen, Ph.D "This important book could very well save your life or the life of someone you love. Dr. Virginia Livingston-Wheeler has succeeded in devising a scientifically rational program for the prevention and treatment of cancer." Richard A. Kunin, M.D. --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

I was born at a very young age in the Flatbush section of Brooklyn, N.Y., the son of an Italian fireman and an Irish colleen from Lowell, Mass. I spent summers playing stickball and going to Ebbets Field and the rest of the year in Good Shepherd grammar school and with the saintly Christian Brothers at St. Augustine Diocesan High School. In those days one could graduate from high school on Feb. 1, which I did, and when my father announced he was retiring and moving us to

Los Angeles, I worked on Wall Street until June, when my sister finished her semester at St. Brendan's High School. Although I had been accepted to Manhattan College and Notre Dame University, I decided I would go to Loyola University in L.A. However, when I took the exam for Loyola in August, I had forgotten one point's worth of high school information and flunked it. The rest of my education was spent in various local colleges studying pre-med and engineering. (If I'd managed to get anything higher than a "C" in chemistry, I'd be a doctor now.) I worked for a while for North American Aviation as a designer on the Atlas missile booster and sustainer engines, but knew deep down I was really F. Scott Fitzgerald, so I got a job at a local newspaper. I've been a newspaperman and movie columnist in Los Angeles; a science correspondent for McGraw-Hill World news; an editor of a trade journal; an acquisitions editor for Chilton Publishing; an advertising/public relations writer and executive for various agencies in San Francisco; and ran my own marketing communications agency for 10 years. Most recently I was the Executive Editor of five Marin County weekly newspapers. I live in Mill Valley, Calif. with my wife, Jovita, in the same house for 35 years, in which we raised two wonderful girls who turned into fabulous women and mothers.

A true story, one of many we know. A friend, a young mother, with cancer in GI tract was given 3 months by Komen, U of M, and Mayo. Of the 20 in her cohort group at Komen, she was the only one to read and adhere to the guidelines in this book by Livingston-Wheeler. In 2 years only 5 were still alive. In 5 years she was the only one alive. That was 15 years ago. She is still going strong. Enough said.

Reading this book was part of my study of pleomorphic (polymorphic) bacterial forms and cell wall deficient organisms. There have been several controversial researchers since the time of Pasteur positing this theory. Antoine Bechamp, Gaston Naessens, and Raymond Rifeto name a few. These theories are not accepted mainstream theories. It is an interesting exercise to compare and contrast the various research in this area; even if only from a layman's perspective.

very good information for those who are concerned about medical profession.

very good book that explains some alternative ways to handle cancer and a really good diet plan for people with cancer

This is a fantastic well-written book, but the Kindle version is difficult to read. The text does not enlarge and arrives in very small font size to allow this book to be comfortably read.

The product is good and my dad became a cancer survivor because of the program. The shipping was very slow. Gave a dare it was shipped to arrive between a 10 day difference and later than online had said.

It has the information I needed. I have terminal cancer and it is very helpful in finding out details that I never thought about before I got cancer.

this was a complete rip off. It is just a copy of a book. You are unable to change the font. Unreadable in this format. If you want the book buy it in book form.
